"As my business grew, I knew I needed an edge, a new tool in my toolbox. When I heard about The CFO Centre services, I knew this was what my business needed to advance to the next level. Our CFO was engaged to help us arrange financing structures and to clean-up our accounting department. Bill hit the ground running, examining all parts of our business and he has become a key adviser on every aspect of business. The implementation of forecast systems identified opportunities and challenges that have been crucial to help us plan our future. With Bill on-board, we now have another experienced executive who can handle strategic projects, freeing me to focus on other matters. Bill gained my trust early on, which is unusual for me, especially with financial information."
